References to other publications must be in APA style. That is, shown within the text as author's name followed by a comma, year of publication and the quoted page number - all in round brackets, e.g. (Levine, 2007, p.23). If there are more authors, the following format is used:

- for a work with two authors:

Greenfield and Savage-Rumbaugh (1990) have acknowledged that Kanzi's linguistic development was slower than that of a human child (p. 567).

Kanzi's linguistic development was slower than that of a human child (Greenfield & SavageRumbaugh, 1990, p. 567).

- for up to five authors:

The chimpanzee Nim was raised by researchers who trained him in American Sign Language by molding and guiding his hands (Terrace, Petitto, Sanders, & Bever, 1979).

In subsequent citations, use the first author's name followed by "et al." in either the signal phrase or the parentheses. Nim was able to string together as many as 16 signs, but their order appeared quite random (Terrace et al., 1979).

- for a work with six and more authors:

Use only the first author's name followed by "et al." in the signal phrase or the parentheses.

The ape language studies have shed light on the language development of children with linguistic handicaps (Savage-Rumbaugh et al., 1993).
